Generic Codes to sort by for discounting

Generic Codes have been added to all products in all catalogs that make it easier to sort products to apply discounts.
Product types within a catalog that share the same discount will many times share the same generic code.

Generic codes are the same as the catalog code or the catalog code that the product originates from.
For example:
Dividends Horizon products in the Dividends Horizon catalog will have GC=KDH (KDH is also the catalog code for the commercial Dividends Horizon catalog.)

All Essentials catalogs will have the GC= of the commercial catalog that they originate from.
For example:
Essentials Dividends Horizon products will have GC=KDH (KDH is the catalog code for the commercial Dividends Horizon catalog)

All GSA catalogs will have the GC= of their matching commercial catalog.
For example:
Dividends Horizon GSA products will have GC=KDH (KDH is the catalog code for the commercial Dividends Horizon catalog)

The following are exceptions to this rule based upon multiple discounts within a specific catalog.
