

2020 PRESENTS

These Are a Few of My Favorite Things (In Technology)

In today's design world, our clients expect a lot from us. Their expectations are set by television shows and marketing that promise a quick turn-around from concept to completion. Are you taking advantage of all the technology and tools that are available to you? Are you using technology to save time and set the right expectations to reduce mistakes? This session will help you design efficiently and effectively from virtually anywhere.

ABOUT THE PRESENTER

Vanessa DeKoekkoek, Global Training Manager, 2020

As an active NKBA member from West Michigan, Vanessa fell in love with the details of kitchen design over 15 years ago. Her passion for technology has grown after teaching commercial and residential software courses at both the corporate and collegiate levels.
